

(B) PoT Gaps

Please read everything carefully.

* Required

1. Participant's Code *

You received your code by email. Here just put the number code that you received. It should look like this: `P000`

2. Name *

Just the first name.

Fill in the form

Please fill in the gaps with the words you have seen during the game if they fit, or from your own knowledge.

Use the words you saw during the game

For some of the gaps you need to use the words you saw during the experiment. But some others are not related and you need to use the words that you know from before.

Don't worry

It is not a school test. Just try to remember what you learned and write it. If nothing comes to your mind for some of the gaps just put a question mark: ?

Spelling doesn't matter

The spelling does not matter. If you just remember how the word sounded like, that is enough. For example if you don't remember how to write "Mountain" but you remember how is the word, just write: "Montan" This is still fine.

Don't get help

Please fill the form all by yourself and do not ask anyone for help. Do not use internet or dictionary to find out about the answers because there is no grading. There is no winning or losing in the form. So do it alone and make sure you submit it in the end.

The
last trip

This is the story of my last trip and I am writing it in my diary. I forgot some words. Could you please help me to remember them?

3. You have no idea what happened on that trip last weekend! First of all, thanks for letting me borrow * your _____, it was very useful when we needed to cut some vegetables.

4. As I have told you, six people of our class went for that hike, including our history _____. He was * supposed to be responsible for us as the students of the school, but it seemed like he is a child, and we are adults!

5. So, at first everything went well. We arrived at the bus stop where the path starts. It's at the edge * of a/an _____, so it was very comfortable to walk in the shade of trees.

6. I walked next to this guy Alex, the one who wants to become a/an _____. He's really crazy about * machines, he was telling me about differences between car engines for half an hour.

7. He also told me that his older brother works as a/an _____. Honestly, I think that melting and * jointing metal is much cooler than drawing blueprints and making calculations.

8. This guy even offered to carry my _____, but I told him that my back is strong enough. Finally I * could escape from his company.

9. It was a very nice walk for a few hours, the path was running past some huge trees and rocks. Some parts were flat lands. But some were also these short hills which are called _____, it was funny how the boys were jumping on them to decide who stands higher. *

10. The night suddenly came, even though it was still early. I looked up and I could see that the _____ are dark and heavy in the sky as if it was going to rain. *

11. It became colder and the wind blew. We were walking further then out of nothing a whole _____ started! The ice drops were poured on us, and I put on the hood of my jacket so that the ice would not go to my shirt. *

12. We started running to find a safe place. If we wanted to wait until the weather got better, there wasn't even enough space between the trees to put up a/an _____. *

13. Suddenly we could see some clearance behind the trees. We rushed there and saw a huge _____. It was full of beautiful white flowers, now all beaten by ice. *

14. We stopped to stay under the trees, but Mr. Robert went to look around. Then he looked at us with a shocked face and called us to come. And can you imagine? There in the grass lies a broken airplane! Apparently it crashed, we could see _____ randomly lying around. I even noticed a small piece under my feet. *

15. Of course we all got scared, what if the _____ who controlled the airplane died and we will find a skeleton?! *

16. We asked Mr. Robert's what we should do, and he just mumbled something. He took out his _____ * to look at the direction, but we could see that its glass was broken and the arrow was lost. And it was our only one!

17. The weather didn't get any better and we still needed to find a safe place. We thought that the _____ * airplane's _____ is a good shelter. That part of the airplane is designed to comfort passengers so it should be safe and strong.

18. After settling inside we realised that it looked like someone has been camping inside this airplane * for quite a long time! We could see some camping equipment and thankfully, some _____! At least we could somehow make a fire with them - we had matches.

19. We all got to work, and I took out a/an _____ to hang the wet clothes on it. *

20. We all got dry and made some tea. Then I poured the rest from the pot into a flask with a/an _____ *

21. Then we talked for several hours, and it was so much fun! I got so scared when it all started, but it * turned out to be such a cool adventure. Although Mr. Robert was scared that we got lost and we will not find our way. But Maria said that we can start our own government here in this Lost Republic, and she will become our _____ to talk to other governments.

22. Soon after that we arranged our beds on the floor and went to sleep. The next morning before leaving, Alex took a piece of wood and made a sign with a marker he had, which said 'Lost Republic'. He hammered it down in the ground with a/an _____. *

23. He also found a/an _____ in the cockpit of the airplane which was disattached from the dashboard, and he rushed to climb a tree to measure how high it was. You know, even though he is a strange guy, he turned out to be quite fun! *

24. After getting back to us, he said he could clearly see the way. We went in the direction he told us, and soon we found ourselves at the edge of a/an _____ (which is a natural wall. Like a mountain but just going up suddenly), with a wide valley under us. *

25. The way back was nice and there was no storm like yesterday. It was already getting dark by the time we reached the road and found a bus stop. At the central station we said goodbye to each other, I carefully crossed the _____ and took the bus home. *

26. As soon as I entered the house, my mom rushed at me and started yelling saying how worried she was. She said I never keep my _____ because I said I would call her on the trip, and she thought we got lost. *

27. It was very funny to tell her our story and see the emotions on her face, not believing me. Finally, she said that instead of Mr. Robert we should have taken a/an _____ who would be able to predict the weather and tell us to go home before the storm. I said next time I'll take her! *
